last meeting decided that the business meeting of the club for June should be held on Tuesday, June 6, instead of the second week in June. It was also decided that every Scout master, assistant Scout master, Scout should be invited to go to Boy Scout Camp in the late afternoon of Thursday, June 15, but not to go alone, but take with them their wives, sweethearts, or friends for an open-air picnic. Many of the Scout masters and Scout officers have automobiles and will take with them other Scout officials.

Troop 54 Hike. Scouts of Troop 54, with their Scout master H. E. Calisch, expect to leave their troop headquarters at 3 o'clock today for an over-night hike. Camp will be made about four miles west of Waverly, where the troop will stay until Sunday evening, returning at 6 o'clock.

Troop 84 plans to take an over-night hike each week.

Old Scout Again. "I've got it great to be back with you fellows again. I have certainly missed our Saturday morning meetings, but believe me, fellows, I just couldn't help it. I thought one of the Scout masters of this city interfered with my business. But you see, he didn't have to work for a living. In the last few weeks I have kept my mind and ear open to hear all the good and bad things you said about you Scouts, so you see I have really been on the job."

"I want to tell the members of the bunch, I want to tell the bunch that I was going to send one of my secretaries to men along with them in Birmingham. Although they were not warned, I can say that they could not, with one exception, have been better. But I am sorry that that one exception had to happen, but you know things like that will happen in the best regulated families of our day. I think you will see their mistake and apologize."

"For the rest of the bunch, I can only say you were simply great. I understand you made a big hit in the parade, and that your conduct was just what a real Scout should be. Perhaps you Scouts don't realize what a responsibility rests upon the shoulders of you Scouts. You are to be on a trip or even upon a short hike, and it is up to you to do all you can to help the bunch. Don't make it hard for him. He is not strict with you because he likes to boss. It is for your own good. Suppose something should happen to one of the bunch, who would be so anxious to congratulate each man and to thank him in behalf of our Richmond First Club for the fine showing and your excellent conduct on the trip. I'll leave it to Frank, was Richmond first?"

"Some time ago I offered a prize to the registered Scout sending in the most letters of commendation on 'What Scouting Has Done for Me.' Harold Gaters, of Troop 37, is the lucky Scout, and to him I present this Scout knife, hoping that he will find it as useful and helpful as he found the commendation letters. As it is pretty late now, I will wait until next Saturday to read his letter."

FIRES START MYSTERIOUSLY

Break Out at Irregular Intervals in House—Investigation Will be Made.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., May 26.—Deputy W. A. Scott was detailed today by Commissioner of Insurance, James H. Young, to make a special investigation of remarkable fire phenomena in a farm house near Kinston, where it is alleged that fires start seemingly from spontaneous combustion at irregular intervals. Request has been received for a State chemist to be sent, but this will not be done until the results of an insurance commissioner makes his report.

Attitudes of furniture and clothing hanging on the walls, according to report, break out in flames without the slightest visible cause. Mr. W. Chase, wife and seven children, occupy the house, which is owned by H. P. Loftin.

There will be an official announcement in judge's stand, clerk and a young woman to present the ribbons for first, second and third places in each event to the Scouts on winning teams.

A red Scout pennant, containing the big Scout seal and the words "Richmond Meet, 1916," given for second place, and a white pennant similar for third place.

Troop winning first, second and third places can choose a march of honor to present or carry the prize from the judges to the troop. The three large prizes can be conferred around the camp fire.

Memorial Day. The Scout executive has just received an official notification from Mrs. B. A. Blenner, general secretary of the Hollywood Memorial Association, announcing the part the Scouts are expected to take on that day.

The Bugle, Pipe and Drum Corps will be assigned an important place in the big parade by J. Thompson Brown, chief marshal. All Scouts in the city who can do so should report to Mrs. E. D. Taylor, at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning at the Soldiers' Monument Hollywood Cemetery, coming in by the Beverly Street gate. Scout Troops who will assist in handling the crowd in the afternoon at 4 o'clock should report at the speakers' stand to Miss Betty Elliston.

qualities, but I believe I am not exaggerating his worth when I say that the man whom today you have gathered together to honor, has done for you all that which is implied in the text I have chosen as a basis of my remarks on this occasion: 'I will betroth thee unto me forever; yea I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in loving-kindness, and thou shalt know the Lord.' Whatever knowledge of the Lord you possess and you apply, is the result of your rabbi's instruction."

Rabbi Mendoza spoke of the intimate relation that must exist between the rabbi and his congregation, if the best results are to be realized, and he pointed out the sense of fraternity that characterized the Jewish race.

"As rabbi, no matter how gifted, is impotent, lacking the right congregation, cannot produce a bounteous harvest in the vineyard of the Lord unto you, he has good seed wherewith to sow, hearts that listen, wills that bridge, waysward impulse. And a congregation, no matter how earnest, cannot be fired with flaming enthusiasm, unless there be one—such as God has conferred upon you—to replenish from his own breast the fires of eternal truth."

"You shall be unto me a kingdom of priests and a holy people. My thought to you tonight is contained in that ancient aspiration," he continued. "For characteristics, as well as one of the most striking of the ideals of Judaism, lies in its religious community, conated our destiny, we are to become a kingdom of priests, not a number of desperate saints and a people of holiness, not particular individuals differentiated from the mass, but we have no inner circles. The individual has significance in Judaism chiefly insofar as he is one of the many and for the many."

"It has often been charged against us as though it were a limitation and a defect that we have too much of the group ethics. We glory in it as the source of our strength and the fount of our spiritual resources. It has kept us morally alive. It has developed in us the sense of fraternity that is one of the most essential and sanctifying features of human existence. It has imbued us with kindness, with sympathy, with tenderness and pity, qualities that are the indispensable substrata for a worthy religious life."

The celebration will extend through to-day and to-morrow. At the service this morning, which will begin at 11 o'clock, Leon M. Nelson, of this city, will deliver an address on "The Law of Moses," and Dr. Calisch will speak to the congregation on "These Five and Twenty Years."

To-morrow night the principal speakers will be Rabbi Abram Simon, of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, Washington, who will speak on "The Law in America," and Rabbi Louis Weiser, of Cleveland, who will take as his subject "The American Rabbi." President Charles Hutzler, of the congregation, will make a brief introductory speech. The services will begin at 8 o'clock.

FINDS BURGLAR UNDER BED

Rockbridge County Merchant Has Thrilling Experience With Negro Who Makes Escape.

LEXINGTON, Va., May 26.—A daring burglary is reported from Gilmore's Mills, Rockbridge County, near Natural Bridge. A few nights ago, W. C. Hughes, a merchant at Gilmore's Mills, was aroused after midnight by his wife, who told him she heard someone in the room. He arose and investigated, looking carefully into other rooms, but could find no one.

Returning to his bedroom, Mr. Hughes was about to lie down when his wife suggested that he look under the bed. He did so, and looked into the barrel of a pistol held by a negro. Leaping upon the bed, Mr.

Hughes reached down and attempted to fire at the intruder, but his pistol snapped. The negro made a dash for the door and fired from the darkness at Mr. Hughes, who returned the fire. Mr. Hughes shot three times, and the negro fled twice.

Bloodhounds were summoned and put on the trail, but they could not get a good scent, and the negro got away. Mr. Hughes thinks there were two burglars, one remaining outside, while the other entered the house. The negro stole a valuable gold watch.
